Blairmore Plays Tie With Lethbridge

Blairmore played three-three with Lethbridge on Lethbridge ice on Tuesday night, and in the opinion of the majority of those having the pleasure to witness the game, had it all over the Lethbridge sextette in every particular. As usual, the visit of the local team and fans to Lethbridge was not unaccompanied with dissatisfaction and mean, selfish treatment at the hands of a certain childish element of that city. One feature of the visit was the branding of Blairmoreites as undesirable and the refusal on the part of the city hotel managements to accommodate either the visiting team or their supporters, and the question is disgusting to say the least. Several local parties, in order to insure themselves rooming accommodation were obliged to go so far as to register as from some other part of this fair province. For a time it looked as if our boys would refuse to play the game and run chance of losing by default, but being possessed with more real sporting blood than was manifested by the city in which they were supposed to be the guests, they would to play the game, and play the game right, despite the most obstinate obstacles.

The game started a few minutes after 8 o'clock, and from the start Blairmore took and held the lead, scoring the first and only goal in that period at the hands of our Charlie Graham. In the second period Blairmore was obliged to face the wind and it was some minutes before the defence ranks of Lethbridge could be penetrated. Charlie was again there and did the trick. Lethbridge succeeded in retreating to the extent of one score during this period, making the result at the end of period 2, two to one. The third period was the fastest of the night, and all the strength of both teams was committed to its fullest. Lethbridge, after about twelve minutes of play, succeeded in equalizing the score and before the finish each team was accredited with another, allowing the game to finish in a tie-three all.

The play throughout was clean, although our dear Tony was adjudged guilty of tripping one of the Sweeties (?) Sam Keller, of Calgary, refereed and introduced some new ideas for the benefit of the Lethbridge outfit. About one hundred Pass fans accompanied the team to Lethbridge, being carried on a special coach attached to the noon east-bound local and returned on a special sleeper that had been placed on the siding at Lethbridge for their accommodation.

It was a source of joy and consolation to the local team and fans, following the harsh and unwarranted treatment of the Lethbridge hotels management and others, to find that some element in that city were manifesting keen interest in them, and looking forward to demand for reform. After the game the team and their friends received invitations from different factions and were the honored guests for a few hours of the sympathetic Chinoak Club. The boys and their friends state that they can never forget the kindness handed out by that club, and also by a number of business men and others who offered the boys the use of their business places or offices as dressing rooms.

While Charlie Graham had the honor of scoring the three goals, every man of the local team did admirably under the conditions. The lineups were as follows:

The Sweeties—Billy Henderson, Fred Henderson, Boucher, McPherson, Reber and Podger. Subs: Grant and Duke Henderson.

Curling Club is Organized

At a well attended meeting of citizens held at the Cosmopolitan hotel on Sunday afternoon last, it was definitely and unanimously decided that Blairmore should be in the running and should be in a position to boast of having a regularly organized and constituted curling club.

Those present included Messrs. Mayor McLeod, R. W. H. Pinkney, L. P. Robert, W. H. Chappell, James Crowder, L. Dutil, D. Lewis, P. Patterson, R. K. Lillie, L. H. Putnam, A. R. Granger, M. G. Rhynas, J. M. Carter, F. Wright, D. McKay, J. McPhail, G. N. Elwin, J. J. Murray, C. J. Tompkins, Emperor Pick, Dr. Olivier, J. B. Wilson, W. A. Beebe, D. M. J. Conway, W. J. Bartlett, J. E. Gillis and others.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—J. Charbonnier, general manager of West Canadian Collieries.

Hon. Vice-President—Mayor McLeod.

President—Dr. J. Olivier.

Vice-President—Dr. R. K. Lillie.

Secretary—A. J. Kelly.

Treasurer—J. R. Wilson.

Chaplain—W. J. Bartlett.

Managing Committee—J. E. Gillis, G. N. Elwin, L. P. Robert, E. Piccarioni, J. P. O'Neill.

On motion it was decided that a company should be formed, known and styled as "The Blairmore Curlers Limited," with head office in Blairmore and a capitalization of $10,000, divided into shares of $20 each, shares to be limited to forty to any one person.

Meeting will be subject to the call of the president.

Question of site and programme occupied considerable time, and the executive committee were asked to go into the matter and report back. Several propositions as to site were advanced at the meeting, one of which would be in close proximity to Fifth Avenue, just to the rear of the Alberta hotel. It was shown to the meeting that as this location was far from being the "dry" part of the town, no difficulty would be experienced in getting moisture to make ice. The other proposition was that there was a possibility of the West Canadian Collieries having in view in their west town-site plan a site for a general skating and curling rink, in which event a substantial subscription from the Company may reasonably be looked forward to. In any event it was apparent at the meeting that enthusiasm was sufficient to guarantee that Blairmore will not be minus an up-to-date curling and general skating rink next season.

The meeting opened with a few words of prayer and exhortation from Emperor Pick, and closed with prayer by the honorable chaplain.

A big dance will be held at the Coleman opera house on tomorrow (Friday) night under the auspices of the Coleman hockey club.

Blairmore Tyrants—Barbour, Turner, Graham, Vejrava, Goddard and Rhynas. Subs: Elwin and Scott. Committee in charge of blow horns and shovels and brooms—Marshall Hamilton, Doc Lillie, Denny Lewis and Fred Thorpe. Probably because our boys carried with them all the toy shovels they could secure at the local toy stores, the Lethbridge rink was cleared between periods. The grand stands at the Lethbridge rink were as usual occupied by Lethbridge "six-bit" fans.

The Farmers' Conventions

With the holding of the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association at Moose Jaw during the first week of February, this year's great gatherings of the organized farmers of the three Prairie Provinces were concluded. These annual meetings, attended by thousands of representative farmers from every nook and corner of the three Provinces, not only command the interest of every man and woman engaged in agriculture, but their deliberations are followed with the closest attention by Governments, financiers, transportation interests, manufacturers, and business men generally, as well as by all organizations interested in social and moral reforms.

To the casual onlooker at one of these big gatherings—so big that it is next to impossible to secure auditoriums large enough to accommodate the delegates, not to mention visitors—they are too big to permit of that careful consideration and intelligent grasp of the important questions which come up for decision and action. At times the conventions appear to be unwieldy, almost unmanageable, and somewhat confused as to the issue before them because of a multiplicity of motions, amendments and amendments to the amendment. No doubt a delegated convention restricted to two or three hundred men and women, selected from districts, could transact business more expeditiously.

But smaller conventions would result in loss of some of the most apparent and undoubted advantages of these big gatherings. The big convention is a veritable dynamo for the development of enthusiasm in behalf of those particular reforms to the accomplishment of which the organized farmers have set their hands. These large gatherings provide ample opportunity for hundreds of men and women to attend who otherwise would never receive the inspiration inseparable from such a gathering together of people engaged in a common task and confronted with common problems. As a result, each succeeding convention sees many new faces in the audience, and the influence of the farmers' movement is thus more widely spread over this agricultural land.

It might be feared that such manifestations of abounding enthusiasm would lead to ill-considered, hasty action. The opposite appears to be true in most instances. Year after year resolutions from individual locals calling for radical and even drastic action are considered by the conventions, but when facts are given and new light thrown on the subject of which the Local was not aware, the big convention invariably rejects the resolution, fully or adopts it in a very much modified form. The ultra-radicals are respectfully listened to, their point of view considered, and then the good judgment and sane common sense of the vast majority render a decision. These annual conventions, therefore, have a steady influence. They clear the atmosphere of much fog which gathers in local spots throughout the year. This, indeed, is one of the most valuable features of these big annual get-together meetings.

And the big conventions are fair and open-minded. "Equity" is the motto of the organized farmers of the West. Emphasis is laid upon it at every convention. And the delegates strive earnestly to live up to it. Anything unfair or underhand is immediately scorned by these big gatherings. Personalities are strictly out of order. The organized farmers are demanding justice for themselves in the carrying on of the primary and basic industry of the Dominion, they recognize the right of everybody else to just treatment, too. They are not asking for special privileges for themselves, and feel there is no injustice in fighting against the continuance of such privileges now enjoyed by others. Complete equity all round is their motto and also their fighting ground.

The conventions in all three Provinces this year had two outstanding questions before them—the much talked of "wheat pool" and the proposal that the farmers' organizations as such should enter the Provincial political arena in their several Provinces. The idea of a "wheat pool" was enthusiastically endorsed, because the wheat growers have become firmly convinced that the methods which have so long prevailed under which their chief product becomes the plaything of market speculators must cease. They have too much at stake to allow such methods to continue indefinitely. Two avenues of reform seem to present themselves—one, action by the Federal Government; two, co-operative action by the farmers themselves. Failing the first, the farmers are determined to evolve some plan whereby the second may be brought into practical operation. But no hasty, ill-considered steps were taken. There was general approval of the magnitude of the task before them—the biggest ever attempted by organized farmers. The huge financial and transportation problems involved were fully and frankly recognized, but there was a grim determination in evidence to find a solution to these, and the Executives were authorized to proceed diligently with the work of finding the solution. It was also made clear that in this task the farmers would have the active sympathy and support of the Western Provincial Governments.

As to the advisability of entering Provincial politics, opinions differed. In some Provinces the majority view favored such action; in others the majority opinion was that such action was not necessary, that the time was not ripe for it, and that to force it would be ill-advised and a mistake. But so far as Federal politics are concerned, there was absolutely unanimous agreement among the farmers to go to fight as a body in the next Dominion election.

HOW TO SAFEGUARD YOUR DIGESTION

The Blood Should Constantly Be Kept Rich and Pure.

If you suffer from any form of indigestion your diet should be carefully chosen. Over-eating is always harmful, but at the same time one must take enough food to supply the needs of the blood. It must be remembered that the blood has to carry nourishment to every part of the body and to take away wastes and defences against disease, as well as the requisite juices for digestion. Hence when the blood becomes weak and fails to do its work, indigestion arises; and when indigestion begins the blood still further suffers. Therefore, to safeguard your digestion, the blood should be kept rich and free from impurities. For more than a third of a century Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a favorite tonic for enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves. If therefore, you find yourself troubled with indigestion, or other ailments due to weak, watery blood, you will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills both safe and effective. The value of this medicine in case of stomach trouble is shown by the experience of Mrs. J. Lewis, Lake George, N.S., who says: "I suffered very severely with indigestion. I had severe pains in the stomach after every meal. I had a loathing for food, my rest at night was very much disturbed, and my general health was declining. I was under a doctor's care, but did not find any improvement. Reading of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done in a similar case I decided to try them with the result that after giving them a fair trial, my general health was improved, and all symptoms of the indigestion that had afflicted me disappeared. I feel very grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for saving me from so much misery."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Wool Market

Canadian wools continue to sell on the basis of small lots. Stocks of Canadian wools on hand are estimated at not more than enough to meet the working demands of the mills from now till the new-clip arrives. The market for pulled wools remains slack, but there are no large supplies of such wools on hand. As the bulk of combing lengths have been exported, ungraded wools are quoted as follows: Coarse, 18s; fine, 20c; very fine, 22c; washed 25c. Graded wools are still quoted from 28c for finer grades running down to 17c and 18c for coarse wools.

"Oral Hygiene" Lay Education Series

"YOUR TEETH"

Second Stage of the Decay of the Teeth.

By Rea Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Editor Oral Hygiene.

When that sharp little pain warns you that another tooth is going, it always seems "so sudden," so unpleasantly sudden. The enamel is not sensitive but the dentine that forms the body of the tooth and fills all of the space between the enamel and the nerve, is full of thrills.

Where the enamel and the dentine meet, the tooth is more sensitive than at any other place except on the nerve; the teeth are particularly sensitive at the margin of the gum.

As the little bacteria of decay get further into the dentine, they send scout ahead along the fibres that extend from the nerve. That is why the dentist seems to do such a tremendous lot of drilling in a cavity. If he didn't go well beyond the farthest particle of decay, his filling would be a failure.

The decay spreads out underneath the enamel as the acid produced by the bacteria eats away the lime that forms the hard part of the tooth. This causes the cavity to be larger usually on the inside than it is at the entrance.

Food and mucus and a remarkable line of debris collect in the cavity. An ash can has nothing on a hollow tooth. This mess decomposes and then the owner of the tooth wonders why his friends take a backward step when he talks to them.

Even at this stage the tooth may be saved without the nerve being destroyed, but it is rapidly getting to the point where long and patient treatment will be required to keep it. In the mouth are more than two hundred different kinds of bacteria. Most of them thrive upon decaying food. In addition to the pain and destruction these cavities cause, they mix this poisonous mass with every bite of food and help wreck the delicate machinery of digestion.

Good Chance to Leave.

Rebellion Days, 1884-85

By O-G-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyright)

On reaching home I found the Indian had behaved well, so I had a heart to heart talk with him and advised him strongly to go back to Nut Lake or Touchwood Hills where he came from. I told him that if he went on, his life was not worth a rush (for in the excited state of the settlers they would shoot at anything in the shape of an Indian); if he decided to return I could not give him any ammunition, but I would spare a few rations of flour, tea, sugar and tobacco, also some mending twine which would see him safely home. His wife joined with me in coaxing him and finally he promised to start back next morning, which he did—so said Nut Lake.

A short digression may be pardoned here to show (that contrary to Yankee opinion) even Indians will show gratitude; in fact I have known many instances of them doing so, and this is one of them. In March, 1886, nearly all the settlers throughout Northern Saskatchewan went down to Qu'Appelle station for seed grain and grub, there being a dearth of both in the country. This was supplied by the government and I was one of the crowd. On our homeward journey we passed through the Touchwood Hills, our ponies were heavily loaded and frequent spells at the steep hills were in order. At one of these we pulled up quite close to some Indian tepees. I noted an Indian scanning both me and my team very closely, shading his eyes with his hands, and jumping up on a wagon box he took one more look, then diving into his tepee, he came running out with a new rabbit skin robe which he threw on my sleigh. Standing up on the box he called out to me to "look at this man, he saved my life. Now my new robe will keep him warm in the snow" (and it did). Sure enough, it was our Nut Lake friend, So-coo-toon, I think they called him. A great shake hands all round followed, and I had to tell my companions the story that night. All our camps were made in the snow, 32 days for me, the round trip being five hundred miles.

To revert to my diary. On proposing to my wife that I could take her and the children to British Columbia, also our furs and that I would go either scouting or on the transport, she absolutely refused to consider any separation, and said we must all stay together no matter what happened. On scouting round the place a day or two later I found a body of some forty Indians, evidently from Nut Lake, had camped for a night a mile or so south of my house, and then struck southwest in the direction of Batoche. No doubt they were rebels, or going to join the rebel forces. This decided me that it was no longer safe for an isolated settler to stay on his farm, and I told my family as soon as we could pack up we would trek for Ft. La Corne. (A year ago after the rebellion an Indian told me that a council had taken place with this party as to whether they would raid my place or not, and it was only decided by a narrow majority that I should be left alone.)

Six miles south of old Ft. La Corne was a retired H. B. C. clerk named Geo. Goodfellow, an old-timer and absolutely fearless where Indians were concerned, and I felt convinced he would still be on his ranch and there we would head for. Between us both we could probably arrange a safe way out of the country if there was a general Indian uprising as reported.

While we were preparing for a start, Xavier Batoche called about noon as he was riding past, and we were very glad to see him as he had remained steadily loyal in spite of much pressure being brought on him by Riel and his compatriots. He would not, he said, fight against his misguided countrymen, so had a hiding place in the Pasquia Hills with some friendly Indians. He stayed to dinner and the fare was poor enough, simply bannock, potatoes and black tea, no meat or butter. With his natural French politeness he made things very pleasant and was very much taken with my three fair haired little girls.

He thought my move was a wise one, and though his large assortment of furs were safely cached at present, he might eventually send them down the Saskatchewan River. I went out with him as he saddled up and after thanking me for my hospitality, thanked me what he called a trifle for Madame in a cotton sack, which proved to be some ten pounds of very choice bacon, which was a noble gift considering conditions. Poor Batoche, or Ka-Kak, so styled by the Indians (meaning raven, as he had very black hair) made a good deal of money fur trading, but took to drinking heavily, and we don't doubt those days.

Leaving our pictures hanging on the walls and quite a number of other household goods, including seed potatoes, we got started. The order of travel was myself on horseback well armed with a fourteen shot Winchester, followed by a heavy six shooter, my wife driving a team of ponies in a buckboard with two kiddies, and our girl with the oxen and wagon and two older children, behind which came three head of stock (all we owned at that time). I would ride ahead for a mile or two and then circle the party. We had the usual trouble in crossing some five creeks, which delayed us so that it was well on in the evening when we made Carrot River. And here an old settler, Mr. Chas. Robertson, very kindly took us all in for the night.

After an early start next morning, and when we were about halfway to La Corne, in one of my rides ahead I caught sight of three mounted men riding in a southerly direction, and after studying them through my field glasses I came to the conclusion they were Riel's men, as I could detect the fine cloth cap with gilt buttons, also gilt crosses sown on their breasts. Their arms were evidently single barrel muzzle loaders, and after a moment's thought I rode to intercept them. On meeting them I gave the usual Cree salutation, "Wa-chee, Wa-chee," to which they cheerfully replied "the mother tongue of all good Indians is French, we are Cree." We all got off our horses took our fire bags and settled down for a smoke and a talk. As I had thought, Riel had sent them down their errand being to corral all the government cattle, but in this they had failed as the Indians very wisely hid them. So they were returning empty handed. I asked whether they were botching settlers. "No," was the reply, "we passed close to Nees-wa-pi-ta (Goodfellow) house and saw the children playing at the door."

Some six miles south of old Ft. La Corne was a retired H. B. C. clerk named Geo. Goodfellow, an old-timer and absolutely fearless where Indians were concerned, and I felt convinced he would still be on his ranch and there we would head for. Between us both we could probably arrange a safe way out of the country if there was a general Indian uprising as reported.

Ratified By Senate

Fordney Emergency Tariff Measure Passed By Vote Of 43 to 30.

Washington.—The Fordney Emergency Tariff Bill, with more than twenty amendments attached, has passed the Senate. The vote was 43 to 30, several Democrats voting in favor of the bill, and several Republicans in opposition. The next step in the progress of the measure will be its presentation to Congress.

Action on the bill designed and rushed through the House as an aid to the farmer came after a protracted session during which four Republican senators broke from their party allegiance and two of them, Edge of New Jersey, and Moses of New Hampshire, bitterly assailed the measure and its Republican supporters. Likewise, solidarity of the Democratic ranks could not be maintained, and being recalled for the bill.

The broadside by Mr. Moses temporarily unsettled the Republican program so much that three amendments offered by Senator Lodge, majority leader, were killed. From the time the vote was called on these amendments, all which had to do with protection for manufactured products, the Senate rode roughshod over all changes preferred. But it already had accepted so many changes that the most ardent predicted trouble in getting an agreement with the House.

Must Improve Grade of Butter

New Zealand Butter Is Underselling Alberta Product In B.C.

Calgary.—The possibility of Alberta losing the British Columbia market for butter was discussed at the daily convention here. It was pointed out that New Zealand butter, selling cheaper in British Columbia than the Alberta product, was coming over in great quantities.

The grade of Alberta butter had to be improved. Duke of Sutherland Farm, at Brooks, carried off honors in oats, barley and alfalfa in the provincial seed fair here. Special prize for best bushel of wheat was won by L. W. Fottis, of Lougheed, Alberta.

Threatened With Extinction

Death Rate in Russia Under Soviet Rule Is On Increase.

Washington.—The population of Petrograd and Moscow in Soviet Russia has greatly decreased, according to Russian dispatches. The population of Petrograd is 706,000, 71 per cent less than in 1917, and in Moscow, the population has dropped to 1,015,000, about 50 per cent less. The death rate in Moscow has increased from 8 per thousand in 1918 to 22 per thousand last year, while in Petrograd the death rate was 2½ times as great as in Moscow. The birth rate has fallen, despite increased marriages. About three-fourths of the workers in Russia now are women, aged men and children.

Death Reported of General Kuropatkin

Warsaw.—A wireless dispatch from Moscow reported that Gen. Kuropatkin is dead.

Kuropatkin, one of the chief military figures in both the Russo-Japanese and World Wars, has been reported to have died or been assassinated at various times since the Bolshevik regime began, but in each instance a denial was later sent out.

Encourage Development.

Edmonton.—The debate in reply to the address from the throne in the Alberta house occupied less than half an hour, being confined entirely to the speeches of the mover and second, Messrs. Mills, Athabasca, and Leflingwell, Warner, each briefly dealing with the matters mentioned in the address of the Lieutenant Governor, with clear cut commendations of the government's policies, and pleas for northern development and southern irrigation encouragement, respectively.

Wind Plays Havoc With B.C. Timber.

Vancouver.—Extensive damage to timber limits on the British Columbia coast was caused by the windstorms at the end of last month according to reports of timber cruisers to Vancouver logging firms. It is estimated that 80,000,000 feet of timber is down on the limits of Brooks, Scanlon and O'Brien, near Powell River.

Drury Starts Opinion.

Toronto.—Premier Drury has taken the definite stand that products made by free government labor, could not be placed on the market in competition with products made by private concerns.

Contestant at Peterboro'

J. H. Burnham, Ind. Conservative candidate in the recent Peterborough election. He resigned his seat some time ago as a protest against the Government continuing in office.

Death of Western Editor

M. R. Jennings, of Edmonton Journal, Succumbs to Heart Disease.

Victoria, B.C.—Milton Robbins Jennings, aged 47, managing director and editor of the Edmonton Journal, died here from an acute attack of heart disease. Mr. Jennings came to Victoria several weeks ago in an effort to regain his health. He was a native of Warsaw, New York.

Mr. Jennings was taken ill in the late autumn and went for treatment to Portland, where his wife was awaiting him. About a month ago he was well on the way to recovery and came to Victoria where he and Mrs. Jennings had planned to stay until he had regained sufficient strength to return to his active duties.

Fruit Growers May Balk

Move to Have United Farmers of B.C. Join With Prairie Organization.

Vancouver.—Norman Lambert, secretary of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, Winnipeg; C. Rice-Jones, general manager of the United Grain Growers, Winnipeg; and J. B. Munro, secretary, Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, Regina, will address the annual convention of the United Farmers of British Columbia here this week.

It is understood that one of the important matters to come before the convention will be the position to be taken by the association as regards politics. During the past year all local farmers have asked their opinion as to whether the United Farmers should join the Canadian Council of Agriculture. If the association falls in line with the prairie organization, it will mean that British Columbia farmers will be adopting a free trade platform and this will not by any means be satisfactory to the fruit growers of this province, who are strong protectionists. It is believed that the mission of Messrs. Lambert and Munro is to persuade British Columbia farmers to join the council.

Protest Reduction of Subsidies.

Calgary.—J. F. Day, of Red Deer, was re-elected president of Alberta Farmers Association for the fourth consecutive year. R. Cates, of Oyen, is vice-president. A resolution was passed protesting the proposal to cut down fair grants from the government. The next convention will be held at Edmonton.

"Speak English" Campaign.

Winnipeg.—A "Speak English" campaign in Manitoba, will be initiated by the Women's Institutes of the province, according to a resolution unanimously endorsed at their meeting here. The sympathy of the teachers will be sought in this regard.

Tolmie Called To Victoria.

Ottawa.—Hon. Dr. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, has left for Victoria, B.C., to see his brother, who has been taken seriously ill.

Saskatoon Loses $200,000.

Saskatoon.—Revised estimates show a loss of about $200,000 was made in the Cabell Block fire here recently.

B.C. Railway Case Concluded.

Ottawa.—Argument in the British Columbia railway case has been completed in the supreme court. Judgment was rendered in favor of the government.

Quebec Liquor Act Passed.

Quebec.—The liquor bill passed its third reading in the legislature without a division.

No Prospect of United States Joining League of Nations

Thinks Japs Preparing for War

Member Tells U.S. House That Certain Japanese Elements Are Looking For Trouble.

Washington.—Refusal of Japan to make any move toward disarmament until she has completed her battleship and cruiser program was declared by Representative Miller, Republican, Washington, to mean preparation by Japan for war, "unless the cool-headed statesmen and diplomats of Japan purge the nation of demagogues, jingoists and junkers that now appear to have the public eyes and ears."

Urging, in a speech in the House, the strengthening of Pacific Coast lines, Representative Miller declared that although "every day of the year we hear of the rattle of the saber from the Pacific," there was no possibility of war between the United States and Japan, unless the latter made it.

"It might just as well be understood now, better than at any time in the future," added the Washington representative, "that our Pacific Coast states will not and shall not become an 'unredeemed Japan.'"

Disintegration of Germany Is Feared

Dr. Simons Counsels Countrymen to Resist Attack on Constitution.

London.—Judging by a speech delivered by Dr. Simons, foreign minister, the political observers here are of the opinion that he is looking forward to the coming reparations conference in London with little optimism. They direct attention to one statement he made to the effect that in all probability "the first attempts of the conference will not lead to an understanding, and that it would be extraordinarily difficult to agree upon new reparations methods."

"We do not accept the Paris deliberations," Dr. Simons is quoted as saying, "measures to break up Germany will come into force. But any attack from the outside on the constitution of the empire, I gather from my tour of the south of Germany, would meet with the unanimous resistance of the whole people," he concluded.

Trench Pest Prevalent

New York.—The enforcement of inspection of all immigrants for typhus which has affected areas in Europe was demonstrated at the Grand Central Station, when 500 immigrants from the steamship Finland, arrived on a special train from Boston. Sixty-two men, 12 women and 15 boys were taken for delousing at a local hospital.

Non-Commitment on Armament.

London.—Lloyd George questioned in the House of Commons as to whether the government would take steps to approach the Washington and Tokyo Governments with a view to arranging a limitation of armaments, replied that the question was engaging the government's attention but it would be premature to make any statement now.

Rescued By U.S. Boat.

New York.—The crew of the British tank steamer Delmar, reported afloat 20 miles north of Havana, has been rescued by the United States freighter, J. E. O'Neil.

Government Roads Are Effecting Freight Economies

Diversion Planned in West For Decreasing Amount Of Hauling Distance.

Edmonton.—In the co-ordination of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian National Railway in Alberta several important diversions are planned in the western division of the system for the purpose of decreasing the amount of hauling distance, particularly as applied to coal and other commodities. It is announced by officials here that diversions already proposed will eliminate several bridges, particularly the long trestle bridge, one of the longest on the system, over the Battle River, near Noran, and the Battle River, near Noran, south of Camrose. This renders necessary the construction of several miles of new track. They will also eliminate the Grand Trunk Depot at Camrose, at which point the Canadian National terminal will serve all purposes of the Canadian National system.

The new line from New Norway to Battle, on the Battle River subdivision south of Camrose, is contemplated in order to shorten the mileage between Brazeau, the coal center west of Red Deer, and Wainwright, on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, 127 miles east of Edmonton.

The new changes are expected to save about 36 miles in the hauling of coal from Brazeau fields. Instead of transporting coal from Brazeau to Wainwright, which was the condition in the past, shipments will be brought via Mirror along the new line, thus eliminating the Battle River bridge.

Could Not Face Exposure

Associate of Martyred English Nurse Prefers Death to Disgrace.

Paris.—Madame Louise Thullier, a Belgian school teacher, who was awarded the insignia of the Legion of Honor and the War Cross during the war, has chosen "suicide rather than face exposure as a spy and a betrayer of patriotic friends, it is declared. The woman, about whom revolved one of the most stirring tragedies of the war, swallowed rat poison when called to appear before a magistrate."

Madame Thullier was associated with Edith Cavell, the English nurse who was executed by the Germans October 15, 1915, in Brussels, and with Countess Johanna De Walleville who was doomed to die by the Germans but whose sentence was commuted through the intervention of President Wilson.

She herself was taken prisoner by the Germans and was sentenced to death, but King Alfonso of Spain made a plea in her behalf and she was reprieved.

Farmers' Action On Election Uncertain

Western Members Reported to be Holding Off For Redistribution.

Ottawa.—The attitude of the National Progressives and the cross benches on the Liberal amendment to the address is causing much discussion at present. Some of the farmer members from the prairies are stated to be holding off until the west can get what they term proper representation by redistribution. Others, however, appear to think that there is no time like the present for bringing on an election, if this is possible, realizing that it may be 1923 before redistribution will be made. Generally speaking it is considered likely the Progressives will support the amendment.

No Hospital Grants.

Toronto.—The Board of Control recommends that no further financial assistance be granted to the various hospitals until their cost accounting systems have been investigated.

Calgary Teachers Stand Pat

Inform Board That They Will Hold Out For Salary Demands.

Calgary.—The teachers of the Calgary public schools will refuse to accept the proposal of the trustees that there shall be no increase in salaries further than under the regular schedule, and a small increase for high school principals. They are determined to stand behind the schedule as presented by the Teachers' Alliance and which calls for increases totalling more than $150,000 over what the regular schedule provides.

The teachers decided this at a meeting of the alliance. They abstain from any action until the war they put off. The meeting was good wishes to the New Westminster teachers on strike.

Pins Faith on Battleships

Admiral Von Tirpitz Re-affirms His Belief in Above-Water Fighting Craft.

Saint Blasien, Baden.—Battleships won the war and will win future wars in the opinion of Admiral Alfred Von Tirpitz, at one time head of the German fleet and commander-in-chief during the critical period of the historic struggle.

He re-affirmed his faith in above-water craft during an interview here and declared that strangely enough, owing to the peculiarities of the war, the submarine had been given greater importance than was warranted by the facts. "It is really the war, so far as the sea was concerned," he said, "won by the British high sea fleet and the verdict could have been reversed only through battleships."

A Strong Committee Will Consider Course Of Studies

All the arrangements for re-drafting the curriculum of the elementary schools are now complete. The initial work will be in the hands of a widely representative committee of fifteen persons, mostly laymen. An effort has been made to have widely varied opinion represented and where there was a regular organization the executive of that organization was asked to choose its representative.

It will be the business of the committee to consider the recommendation of the various organizations received by the Department during the year, to determine on board general lines the scope and content of the course of study, the subjects to be included in the new course, whether there shall be any differentiation between the course prescribed for rural and the for urban schools, and whether any new subjects are to be added. This committee will meet at Edmonton on Tuesday, March 1st.

The personnel of the committee is as follows:
G. F. McNally, Edmonton, Supervisor of Schools for the Province, chairman.
F. Baber, Ponoka, vice-president of the U. F. A.

Mrs. R. B. Gunn, Paradise Valley, director of the U. F. W. A.
Mrs. A. H. Rogers, Fort Saskatchewan, secretary of the Women's Institutes.
Walter Smitten, Calgary, secretary Alberta Federation of Labor.

Chas. E. Peasley, Medicine Hat, principal Elm Street school.
H. J. Spicer, Calgary, principal Sunalta school.

H. A. Malcolm, Innisfail, rural school trustee.

W. A. Hamilton, Lethbridge, school trustee and member of Executive of Trustees' Association.

J. T. J. Collison, Edmonton, member National Council of Education.

J. E. Wodell, Calgary, editor, Farm Edition of Calgary Herald.

John Howey, Edmonton, editor Edmonton Bulletin.

Dr. A. M. Scott, Calgary, Superintendent of Calgary schools.

John W. Russell, Camrose, Inspector of Schools.

J. A. Valiquette, Calgary, president Associated Board of Trade.

For more than a year, upon the invitation of the Minister of Education, public bodies and organizations throughout the province have been studying this question. All have been urged time and again to give the Department, for the use of this committee, the benefit of their views. Many have responded. The committee has been selected by representative organizations in the most democratic way possible. The findings of this committee should be the result of widely varying individual opinions made applicable to the actual conditions to be met in the Province. Professional committees will be appointed later to carry the work to completion in a general

New Checker Board

A Winnipeg printer, home from the war, has thought of an improvement in the old-fashioned game of checkers, a doing away with the double corners to the respective end of the board, and the players, and transferring a safety ground to the centre of the board says the Winnipeg Tribune.

The probability is that some think it is time for a revision of one of the most ancient of man's games.

Sixteen hundred years before the birth of Christ, Egyptians were playing checkers. They did not call it that; nor did the English or Scotch who preserved the game in Britain. They still speak of it as "Draughts," but it is checkers to every Canadian who moves the rounded discs from square to square, that is until his opponent removes them from the board.

The most remarkable thing about checkers is that the position of nothing else has been predicted more frequently, or by as many persons. Centuries ago the young folks were saying it was a fine sport for old people, but doubtless would it would die out when ships and his gang passed away. It did not, possibly because there always have been elderly people, who, naturally enough, would rather move upon a checker board than on a more active field.

A Red Cross wheel drive will be held in the Masonic hall on "Tuesday afternoon next, March 1st. Play will start promptly at 2.30 p.m. Admission 50 cents. Tea will be served at four and will not be limited to players. For those wishing tea only, a fee of 25 cents will be charged. The proceeds of this drive will be sent to the Red Cross orphanage at Brickburn, Alberta.

APOLOGIST FOR LETTERS A- GAINST BASSOFF HANGING

C. C. Stuart, who brought himself into notoriety through letters in the press under his signature, condemning the process of justice by which Tom Bassoff was hanged, appeared before Mr. Justice Hyndman at Calgary, on Tuesday, on the charge of contempt of court. The letters which appeared in the Calgary Herald and also one in the Lethbridge Herald, contained a declaration of the innocence of Bassoff, with the virulent attack on court and jury. His Lordship, after delivering Stuart a stern lecture, ordered that he should be found guilty of contempt of court, but signified that sentence would not be passed on him if he would write a letter of apology which could be published as the court deemed advisable. He was also ordered to pay the costs of the crown and enter into a recogni-sance bond of $1000 as guaranty of his good behavior for the space of a year.

The letter of apology was published in the Calgary Herald of the same day. In the Stuart said that in writing the letter to the paper he had no intention that it should be published. He acknowledged that the statement he made, that one of the jurors said that the jury was not convinced of Bassoff's guilt, was not correct. His excuse for writing the letter to the paper was that he had struck a blow on capital punishment and that probably this had incensed him. He apologized and undertook not to be guilty of any further contempt of court.

Bellevue Happenings

We are all busy lubricating our joints for the big harder-times ball at 'Hillcrest on Monday night next.

Mrs. (Dr.) Heesman has returned from her visit to the coast. Returning she spent a few days with relatives and friends in Lethbridge.

The first degree was conferred on a number of candidates at the regular meeting of Bellevue Lodge No. 118, I.O.O.F. on Monday night last.

The heavy wind-storm of Wednesday morning threatened to do damage around the camp, but as far as we can learn but one building—offered the loss of a roof.

K. A. Saad is billing every home with stock news, offering special inducements to the buying public and their patrons by means of a sale, starting Saturday.

Albert and Mrs. Hallworth and James Cousens returned home from Calgary last week end, after attending the annual Oddfellows' convention. Mrs. Hallworth had the honor of being elected and installed into the office of grand chaplain of the Alberta Rebekah Assembly. Congratulations!

A big carnival is advertised to take place on Bellevue rink on Tuesday evening next. It is to be hoped that the weather man will look favorably upon Bellevue on this occasion and allow us, having the time of our lives. The Bellevue brass band will be in attendance. Good prizes to the value of six dollars each will be given to the best dressed lady and gent and best dressed comic lady and gent—These prizes have been kindly donated by Messrs J. A. Barbour, Johnson & Cousens, S. I. Humble and Kerr Bros. Skating for competitors will start promptly at 7.30 and general skating at 8.15.

One of the most pleasant events of the season took place on Tuesday evening at the Oddfellows' hall, Bellevue, when the friends and relatives of the Goodwin family gathered there by invitation to celebrate the coming of age of W. Goodwin, junior. Upwards of two-hundred were present. Mr. Albert Hallworth acted as chairman of the evening and in a short address welcomed the friends in the name of the Goodwin family. This was, he said, a dual event, as it was, besides the coming of age celebration, the first suitable opportunity they had had of getting all together since the return of the boys from the front. Card games were indulged in; songs were rendered by Mr. Waite Goodwin, instrumental quartettes by the four Goodwin boys, a piano-forte solo by Mr. George Coupland and very humorous songs by Mr. Ross, recently from South Africa, made up the major part of the programme and every item was enjoyed. Most dainty refreshments were served by the Mesdames Goodwin and the light fantastic was tripped until the wee sma' hours of the morning. Some very appropriate presents were handed to the honored guest and all joined in extending to him hearty birthday greetings.

"Well," said the widow, "if it's so, it's so," Bill Paisley, she cried, "you get off my property and don't you come back here no more." You know a poor widow's only a poor widow, she sobbed, dropping the kettle and covering her face with her apron, "but you can't come here and do it, you'd better get off my place."

Paisley packed the girl's hair and picked up his rifle. "I hate to go, and now I'm small, that's how you've been cookin' I just naturally hate to go more'n ever. I always said that widder Ross could fry bacon like no other woman this side of the creek."

"Mac," Mary Ann he the only woman on this side, sort of the widow, dropping her apron. "mean anywhere in Budwehacker's Place, turnin' bowed Bill. I always remember them pies you made for Mac's loggin'-ber, and the puddin' for Deidre's, too."

"I suppose there's no hurry for your gun," sighed Mrs. Ross, and "I'll own I did cook your meat this mornin' for why, I don't know. So if you want to, you kin come in and eat breadin' time. But I added, 'you'll sure have to get off my property after you've eat'."

The good lady brought her kettle and whisked into the house, Paisley smiled at Mary Ann. "You always have such a way of gettin' round me," laughed the girl. "Mary Ann, you've got a proper good man," said Bill earnestly. As they entered the house young Tom came running up the path. "Isn't it awful," he cried. "They think poor old Noah was burnt with the schooner. They found his skull floatin' near the middle grounds."

CHAPTER XXV. And the Day After.

It was nearly mid-day when Paisley sought his skill once more, and made

The Young Mother

Youth, with its vitality, makes for the young mother's health and happiness. But later, maternal experiences bring a different result. The care of a family, multiplied household duties, and very often the weakness caused by womanly disease, tend to prolong the suffering and to make convalescence a slow and weary process. Many women—perhaps your own neighbors—have had beneficial experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which procures the prospective mother. Send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of tablets.

HAMILTON, Ont.—"I was advised by a practical nurse to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic during expectancy, and I have had every reason to be grateful for her advice, the usage is kept in perfect health and I had practically no suffering. The prescription not only benefits the mother but the child, and I would recommend this 'Prescription' to every expectant mother."—Mrs. O. Evers, 40 Elm Street, N.

to cross to Bushwhackers' Place. It had turned bitterly cold within the last couple of hours and the ice upon the surface of the creek was almost too thick to break with a paddle. Out across Round Ean black wisps of duck were rising from the water and flitting upward like a pale fire. Paisley's boat parted the mere ripples. "They'll all go to-day, Bill. By night that won't be a duck on the boat."

"Been over to Mac's?" asked Paisley. His eyes were on the low-lying bulk of the charred schooner and his shaggy brows were puckered in a scowl. "Yes, come from there," answered the other. "Seems like old Nick has been loose amongst us last night, it does."

"Then you've heard?" Bill nodded toward the black patch on the white waves. "I was me seen it first," replied Deidre. "I seen her burnin' near Noan's." Man, but it was a wild sight! Red sky above her and red water all about her. After daylight come I gets in my boat and goes over to the house. In the night I was there floatin' bottom up near the middle ground. Deidre left for his pipe, lit it, and threw the charred match down with a shudder.

Paisley stepped from the boat and brushed past him up the path. "You told Mac, I suppose?" "Yep, they knew it, and Gloss she's takin' on some. I guess she thought a lot of poor old Noah."

"I reckon she's right," said Paisley. "He brought her here, nigh twenty years ago." They found Big McTavish carrying fodder from the corn-stalk stuck into the log-stable. From the chinks of the barn between the logs came the white breath of the oxen, and the chickens released from their coop ran in and out of its open door.

"Bill," said the big man, his blue eyes humid with feeling, "it looks as though poor old Noah went with the schooner."

"It does," nodded Paisley. "Mac, we all know who it was burned the boat, but we don't know Halibut to be, it's awful to think he would sacrifice that old man's life there wouldn't be a witness against him while he tries to prove we did it. It's awful."

Boy came up, his face worn and his eyes heavy. He placed the spade he carried inside the stable door and threw his arm about Boy's shoulders.

"You're shakin'," he said, "you ain't just yourself, no nussel take on hard like you're doin'. Boy, I guess maybe Joe had more soul in his poor dog's body than all them cut-throats had among the lot of 'em, but Joe is done with this life. Boy, don't you take it hard."

He drew the young man towards the house, and half-way across the road Boy stopped and turned a look down across the valley.

"Bill," he cried, "I told you I would wait till you come back, and now you're back I'm gone." "Where's he gone?" "He got away last night," said Paisley. "He was hurt bad. I guess old Joe did it. They carried him off, and he won't ever come back here again, Boy."

"Let me go," cried the young man, shaking himself free. "I don't care where he's gone, Bill, I'll follow him—and."

He snatched up the rifle leaning against the stable door, and dashed across toward the creek. Paisley followed more slowly. He came up as Boy was pushing his canoe into the ice-coated creek.

"The ducks are leavin' to-day, Boy," he said, "look at 'em. They're had a glad time here this season, I guess, take it all around. Look at 'em, Boy—they don't seem to want to go there much, do they?"

Boy glanced up, then he stood erect in the boat and watched the detached flocks of frigate water-fowl aware and pitch and at last mingle in the greater flocks, fading south. Sweetly and shrilly their strong wings beat the frosty air, the sound of their pinions now rising, now fading, and at last thundering in the great flocks dropped low as though to bid the old marsh feeding-ground a last good-by.

"They're goin' away, Bill," he remarked absently. "Even the little teal that were hatched right here in this marsh are goin'." Seems odd, don't it? I guess they know it's come winter. "Seems like they know it has," answered Paisley, and "I'm thinkin' they're sorter promisin' this old dead duck, they'll come back when it's spring and nest again. 'Member the old grey duck's nest me and you found down near the other-side, Boy? Gosh, I'd never believed an old man could take on like that one did. Keep flyin' right in my face, and there he little duckin', just hatched, kept leavin' in the water and pointin' their heads sideways like they were kickin' her on to me and enjoyin' her as a real whalin'. By gum, my face was sore for more'n a week where her wings brushed it. And you—why, you just stood there laughin' at me gettin' the whippin'."

Boy was smiling now, his head leaning on his breast, his hands blue with the cold, clasping and unclasping the paddle.

"The little devil," he said softly, "the little devil. I don't suppose they're gettin' colder than the little wild things of the marsh. Bill, I've been out springs with Dave, and you know how he can handle birds and things. I've seen baby snipe, baby rails, and all the little birds that were here, and they were scared and all of 'em was standin' high up on the bank. He took Boy's arm in his and they went back along the walk together. And as they turned, the skies darkened and the snow began to fall in zigzag sheets that hid the flocks of migrating wild ducks, and the low song of their beating wings grew more muffled, and at last died away altogether. "There's somethin' I want to tell you, Boy," said Paisley shortly, when at last companions sought the path to the house. "Me and Mary Ann is goin' to be married in the mornin'. I reckon you'll be glad to know it. I Boy did not lift his eyes from the ground. "I sort of knowed all along you and Mary Ann would marry some day," he said. "And, Bill, I am glad—glad as I can be to-day."

The inner door of the McTavish home had been taken from its leather hinges to make an additional table for the guests assembled. Seated about that table were the fathers and mothers of Bushwhackers' Place. Fat, louse-headed children ran and toddled and crept about the wide floor. The table was laden with good things that the Bushwhackers were accustomed to partake of. A couple of fragrant boiled hams, a great deal of corned beef, pickled, fresh venison, cucumber pickles, boiled rice, a deep custard made in a milk pan, and a small staff was laid out. Ross, who now sat at the head of the table—and dished-it out—prudently, strong tea, and cream and maple sugar to make the rice palatable. (To be continued)

Heart Weak, Nerves Shattered After the "Flu."

In a large majority of cases those who survived the last epidemic of Spanish influenza were left with weak hearts, shattered nerves, impoverished blood, and the whole system has been left in such a general weakened and exhausted condition that it has been impossible to get back your old health and strength.

If you are in this condition there is only one thing to do; take a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the greatest deal of comfort, and your heart will be strengthened, your nerves toned up and your blood enriched. Mrs. W. W. Parke, 14 Seaton St., Toronto, Ont., writes: "I was left with a weak heart and in a rundown condition from the 'flu.' My nerves were badly shattered, and I had such pains in my heart I could not sleep much at night. Without getting any better, my husband got me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I took one box I got relief, after taking six boxes have been well and not bothered since."

A Military Course

Saskatchewan College Has Military Program This Year.

The University of Saskatchewan will have a definite military course for the year 1922 according to an announcement made after a recent conference between President Murray, of the University, and Brigadier-General Ormrod, O.C., 12 District. One hour each week will be devoted to drill and physical training and one hour to theoretical work. Lectures will be given on military science by officers appointed by the Militia Department, covering the strategy of the Great War, with particular reference to campaigns and engagements in which the Canadians took part.

Your New House.

Happy the man, in these days of shortage, who owns a house that is neither ugly nor uncomfortable! And happier still is the prospective builder who will conform honestly to good standards for the new structure! We may sigh for the good old days of cheap materials and abundant labor, but the responsibility for a pleasant new house is no less personal now than formerly. Of course utility should always be considered, but that is no reason why a house should not also have simplicity of line and good taste. An ornament—Yonika, Companion.

Despoiling Forests

Great Medicinal Tree Disappearing Rapidly From Pacific Coast.

A warning that foreign cutters are despoiling the forests of British Columbia by destroying root and branch, all the native supplies of the cascara sagrada bush, is being sounded by botanists and timber-cruisers interested in preserving this valuable medicinal bark. The legislature is to be asked at the coming session to pass legislation to preserve this and other valuable barks and herbs from destruction.

The cascara, referred to in botanical works of ten years ago as the "Pacific Coast's great gift to mankind," is said now to be so depleted in Oregon and Washington as the result of reckless gathering that there is no longer any to be found within reach of transportation. Prices have risen from two cents to more than ten cents a pound.

dence towards it.One year after it was organized, in 1872, the company's income was $48,000; its assets, $96,461, and it had written policies for a total of $1,064,350.
By the year 1880 the income had grown to $141,402, with assets $473,682 and insurance in force of $3,897,129.From this time onward the development of the company, not only in Canada but in stretching out to many other countries of the world, proceeded at a rapid pace, as the tables for the next four decades indicate:

1890—Income	$89,000
Assets	247,300
Insurance in force	167,590
1900—Income	278,900
Assets	1,046,000
Insurance in force	57,980
1910—Income	927,500
Assets	1,614,000
Insurance in force	143,540
1920—Income	2,873,000
Assets	1,829,000
Insurance in force	486,641

Such a record stands alone in the annals of life insurance companies in Canada. Nor after such a great achievement is there any sign that the company has any intention of standing still in its laurels, for during the past year there was written in new insurance upwards of $100,000, which in itself exceeds by $20,000 the high mark of 1919, which up to that date was a record for the company. It is interesting to note that during its fifty years of existence the Sun Life has paid out to its policyholders or their beneficiaries over $100,000,000. Details of the financial statement of this company, for the past year appear elsewhere in this issue and will be studied with more usual interest in this its Jubilee year.CLEANLINESS

WITHOUT MEDICINEJust Breathe "Catharhozone" Its Balsamic Vapor Does the Rest.It's a tiny germ that sets up the irritation that makes colds so disagreeable. Colds die quickly if Catharho-zone is used, simply because the vapor of Catharhozone instantly destroys the germ that keeps the cold alive.Every breath you draw through the inhaler fills the whole breathing apparatus with pure piney essences that stop colds at their very beginning.
You experience a pleasant sensation of relief at once. Soreness, congestion and irritation leave the nose and throat, the head is cleared, and every-trace of cold or catarrh is relieved.
Catharhozone is so pure, so pleasant, such a safe remedy for winter ills that you can't afford to do without it.
Get the dollar outfit, it lasts two months and is guaranteed to relieve

A Unique Barometer

Stone In Finland Which Forecasts
The Weather.In Finland there is a stone which like a barometer, forecasts the weather. This stone, it is said, turns black or blackish gray when rain or bad weather is approaching, and small white spots at the approach of clear weather. Many attribute the changes to the stone's fossil mixed with clay and containing rock salt, nitre, or ammonia, which, according to the amount of water vapor which the air contains—attracts the dampness or gives it off. When it attracts it becomes black; when it gives off moisture and the salt gets dry, the stone becomes white, indicating that the air contains little moisture.Rheumatism Relieved in 1 to 3 Days.

Compose Suit
Of Cafe au Lait
Velour

By Gertrude Berestford.

The composite suit is one that appeals to many women because of its practical qualities. This model is made of cafe au lait velour in plain and striped weaves. The former is chosen for the coat. The long collar, however, shows a pleasing use of the striped fabric. The skirt, too, is made from the striped velour as well as the jaunty turn back cuffs. The soft tricot of brown satin reveals a silk draping on the side. The type of suit just described suggests an excellent way of making over clothes.
Sometimes a dress gets rubbed in the boiler while the skirt is still quite presentable. By getting enough matter for a coat you may readily evolve a delightful suit.

To Improve Breed of Cattle

B.C. Dairyfemen Are Offered a Unique Opportunity.A unique effort towards the elimination of the scrub bull in British Columbia has been made by Mr. P. D.
Hillis, of Victoria, one of the members of a firm of pure-bred Holstein cattle farmers, who offers to exchange without cost a pure-bred Holstein bull calf for a scrub calf with any dairyman who is now using the scrub bull.
This generous offer was made to the provincial livestock commissioner who is naturally enthusiastic about the scheme, which should give a great impetus to the movement now throughout Canada towards better sires. The dairy herd of Mr.
Hillis himself is an example of the results obtained by the use of purebred stock. On his farm not one of the cows is producing less than 13,000 pounds of milk a year, while some approach or exceed 20,000 lbs. The calves that it is proposed to exchange will be sired by "Westport Lad," recognized as one of the leading bulls of the breed.Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in appropriate or correct 20,000 lbs. The ing bulls of the breed.New Zealand was the first country in the world to acknowledge the political equality of the sexes by giving women full suffrage in 1893.

Excellent for Croupy Children.

When a child is suffering with croup
it is a good plan to use Dr. Thomas'

We are in receipt of a beautiful bouquet of banana blossoms, picked this week from Billy McVey's orchard in South Blaimore. The flowers were covered with grubs, no doubt due to excessive heat.

Next Thursday, March 3rd, being the first meeting in the month, is for mission study for the Senior Girls' Mission Band. All girls welcome. Word in answer to the roll call is "Watch."—Press Secretary, Jean Shearer.

Our popular citizen, Mar Poy, had the misfortune the early part of last week to fall off a platform and severely injuring his back. As a result he was confined to his bed for several days, but is able to move around the store now.

Cable despatches from London state that an important person in Anglo-American politics had called representatives of American newspapers together and issued a solemn warning that the two nations are treading the path leading to war. United States officials characterize the statement as preposterous and the utterance as ill-advised, untimely and undiplomatic.

Weather conditions are not at all favorable to a game being played on local ice tomorrow (Friday) night, and it is thought that a visit to Calgary will be necessary to decide the contest between Lethbridge and Blaimore. Blaimore heads the league, having some nineteen goals surplus to their credit; but in spite of this fact, Lethbridge is desirous that Blaimore concede the championship to them, that they may be elected to play at Okotoks on Saturday night. But under only one condition will this be permitted—that the final game has to be played, even if at Calgary, and in the event of Lethbridge on the order of President Long electing to play in the inter-league, that the win if made by the challenger of the Crow League would be accredited the winner of the Lethbridge Blaimore final if played thereafter. But Blaimore is entitled to the championship. Not a complaint or protest has been made against Blaimore during the season. Blaimore is nineteen goals ahead of Lethbridge and Blaimore if playing the pelt same man today as they started the season with and never attempted to take or sign on any other to gain her ends in sport. Lethbridge, on the other hand, must bear the brand that she has undertaken to meet her selfish ends by substituting anything that appeared to them as better than one of the originals. Several protests have been registered against her during the season and they are not playing today the same team throughout that the season was started with.
